LOWER STORE WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Lower's Country Store has forfeited the old-time atmosphere for convenience and efficiency.

In step with progress over the past 114 years, since its founding in 1850 by the first Henry Lower, the Table Rock general store has been completely modernized to meet the demands of the evergrowing hordes of customers who come from beyond the county's lines to shop.

The cracker barrel and pot-bellied stove disappeared from Lower's Country Store years ago, but the reputation of the enterprising young merchant of 1850 has been kept alive by his descendants for three generations. The store is presently in the hands of Lower's great-grandson, Ronald L. Grim, who already is training another generation in the grocery business.

114TH BIRTHDAY

The newly-remodeled store will mark the 114th anniversary next Thursday, Friday and Saturday by giving away a quarter of beef, hams, electric toasters, alarm clocks and 20 baskets of groceries to lucky ticket holders.

Two new departments have been added to make shopping more complete for Lower's customers, a baked goods division and delicatessen foods. The interior has been repainted, rearranged and furnished with new floors, display cases and modern lighting. The meat department still continues to be the greatest attraction, with a large staff of butchers to slaughter and cut the choice meats on which the Lower reputation has been built. Custom slaughtering also continues to be an attraction.

Upon Henry Lower's retirement in 1898, his son, E. G. Lower, took over. His son-in-law, (Continued on Page 14)

The winner was reported at a Father-Son Night held by the county's 4-H tractor clubs in the Arendtsville bank winding up the formal activities of the clubs for the year. The competition Saturday, similar to the one to be held in August, was divided into three parts. First was a competition on checking out the tractor for use. Third was a competition similar to the second, using a four-wheeled vehicle hitched to the tractor.

Planning Group OK's School Annex

The Gettysburg Borough Planning Commission Tuesday evening at its meeting in the engine house gave approval to the school board's plans to add to the present senior high school building, Planning Commission Secretary Orville B. Orner reported.

The commission also adopted a resolution asking borough council to review a prior recommendation made by the commission that the borough seek to secure from the school board a portion of the Lincoln School lot at the intersection of Hanover and York Sts. The commission recommends that about a 35-foot section of the "point" of land at the intersection be secured in order to "round off" the intersection to improve the traffic flow.

Much of Tuesday's meeting was devoted to discussion of traffic control in the borough.

Report Of Tuberculosis Society Given At Dinner

In the annual report of Mrs. Harold L. Ecker, executive secretary of the Adams County Tuberculosis Society, presented at the annual dinner meeting Tuesday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg, it was revealed that 901 persons in Adams County were x-rayed by the mobile unit last October and during the previous March 423 additional persons were x-rayed including 67 guests at the county home. These guests were able to go to the mobile unit for their x-rays. Others at the home will be x-rayed in the fall with a portable unit.

At the October x-ray session there were two possible TV findings and 20 non-TB findings. In each case the individual is notified to consult their personal physician.

REPORT TO STATE
Reports on these x-rays are sent to the state Department of Health for those who had any finding on the x-rays, the first one due one month after the reading and the second, one year later. Reports are made to the physicians for a report on the disposition of the cases. In most cases the physicians co-operate.

The Mantoux test was conducted in the county schools for the second year to the First and 10th Graders. The county society pays for the literature, mimeograph forms and the syringes and serum for the First Grade students. The schools pay for the syringes and serum for the high school students. A total of 2,220 students received the test. Forty-one showed a reaction. At the time the report was made 40 of the 41 reactors had received an x-ray and all of them indicated no tubercular findings. In the follow-up cases the county society provided serum and syringes and the state nurses from the county health center made personal contact with each of the families of a reactor. They were all offered supplies to have the Mantoux test made by their personal physician. One hundred seven of the associates had a test, 18 showed a positive reaction and 16 of these had an x-ray. Fifteen were already known to the clinic. Thus 88.7 per cent of the associates were either x-rayed, Mantoux tested, or under the attention of the clinic. None of the associates had a tubercular finding.

SEAL CAMPAIGN
With reference to the annual seal campaign it was reported that 7,500 letters had been addressed to county and organizations. Receipts were $4,458.35. A percentage of this amount was sent to the state society.

The total cash available to the society during the year was $4,992.85. Expenses totaled $3,362.90. Deducting the amount sent to the state society leaves a balance as of March 31 of $993.70.

The school testing program cost the society $520.33. The schools' share was $153.35. Research and rehabilitation, relief, x-rays, salaries, postage and miscellaneous items account for the other expenses. It was also reported that the society has an emergency fund of $7,061.11, equivalent to one year's budget account, according to a policy of the national organization. However, most of this amount has been earmarked for major pieces of equipment for respiratory diseases at the hospital which are badly needed.

SAY INSURANCE RULES DIFFER FROM PA. LAW

An apparent conflict between Pennsylvania's laws and the regulations of some insurance companies concerning operation of ambulances was discussed Tuesday night at a quarterly meeting of the Adams County Ambulance Corps at Bonneauville.

District Attorney Gerald R. Walmer and State Police Sgt. David K. James said state law specifically provides that emergency vehicles such as ambulances are to use lights and siren only in an emergency — and transporting a patient who does not need immediate medical attention to or from a hospital, does not constitute an emergency.

The members of the 11 ambulance corps which constitute the Adams County group agreed, but a number said they had been told by their insurance agents that the insurance did not cover their activities unless lights, and in some instances, sirens, are being operated. The district attorney asked that the ambulance crews involved show him copies of such insurance policies.

USUALLY NO EMERGENCY
General discussion by the ambulance drivers and the principal speakers indicated all were in agreement that emergency lights and sirens should be used sparingly because of the danger involved from the reaction of motorists on the highways. Sgt. James also pointed out that use of lights and sirens "provides an additional danger in that it gives the driver a false sense of security. Other drivers may not be alert, or may have windows closed and radio on and can't hear the siren."

Discussion indicated a belief among the Ambulance Corps members that "90 per cent of our operation is not of an emergency nature."

Among the many matters discussed in the two-hour session was that of what to do about the man who has "gone berserk." The general advice was that if the call to the ambulance crew comes from the family to determine whether a physician has been summoned, for usual with sedatives he can solve the problem. If that does not suffice it is best to have some member of the family bring a charge of surety of the peace, or assault and battery, in order to obtain police assistance in handling the disturbed person and to permit use of the padded cell at the jail.

GET LEGAL ADVICE
"It is a difficult process, and rightly so, to take a person to the state mental hospital at Harrisburg," the district attorney said. "It would be a terrible thing if people could be put in the asylum just because someone said they were crazy. The law very wisely makes the commitment of a person to the asylum a difficult thing. This takes time. As ambulance crews you must protect yourselves. I know you want to help a wife, or family that is terrorized, but what are you going to do with the man? It's up to the doctor or police, not you — if you act on your own, you are in trouble."

Julius Swope, secretary of the Gettysburg Ambulance Corps, reported that the local Exchange Club has donated a life-sized manikin equipped for use in training in resuscitation and other first aid. The manikin will arrive about May 15 and will be available to all of the member ambulance groups in the county unit for training demonstrations whenever desired.

MEET NEXT IN JULY
The group voted to send a letter to the Gettysburg borough council expressing its appreciation for the "splendid manner" in which the borough crews kept South St. free of snow so it could be used by ambulances enroute to the hospital.

President Eugene Long presided at the meeting held in the Bonneauville fire house and announced that the next quarterly session will be held July 21 at 8 p.m. at East Berlin. At that time it is anticipated a representative of the Hanover Hospital will discuss operation of the ambulances in relation to policies of that hospital. At the January meeting of the corps Walter Dillon discussed ambulance operation and the Warner Hospital.

MEN'S LEAD IN MURDER CASE

The commissioners Tuesday met with 12 tax collectors from throughout the county, will meet with an additional group Friday and others at a later date.

GIVE EXONERATIONS
At the conclusion of the meetings the commissioners had given exoneration for $2,437 worth of real estate taxes and $4,836 in per capita tax. Much of the amount represented duplications in the lists sent the tax collectors, persons who had moved or died, etc. The tax collectors noted that even though exoneration were given covering others that they could not collect so far, they anticipate getting those taxes for the county at a later date. The exoneration are needed to permit the tax collectors to obtain new bonds.

Spangler, East Berlin; Harry Kane, Fairfield; Helen G. Kuhn, Franklin; Eleanor P. Cunningham, Freedom; Anna A. Bair, Germany; William L. Eisenhart, Hamilton; J. Doyle Rebert,

ADAMS COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

By JOSEPH DOBRANSKY

Director of Extension Services
The bookmobile service is now a little over one year old. Since it began on March 2, 1963, the bookmobile has covered 9,310 miles over the county's roads and has circulated over 40,000 books — just one reflection of its acceptance by the residents of Adams County.

Bookmobile users come in all age groups, have reading interests as diversified as those in any metropolitan area, and are often faithful above the ordinary, coming to select books in all types of weather and apologizing for missing an occasion visit.

The bookmobile is continually adding new patrons, often in amusing fashion, as in the case of the little boy in New Oxford. Entering for the first time with a handful of change, he inquired, "How much does it cost to join your club?" Well he, as well as thousands of others, have joined the library at no charge and are enjoying their library on wheels.

Perhaps the highest compliment paid the bookmobile program is one that has been heard throughout the county. "I don't know how we got along without this service before."

The next time you see the bookmobile drive into your town, why not stop in for a visit. You too may want to join our club.

U.S. Wants Russia To Keep Restraining Hand On Big Weapons In Cuba

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is trying to get Soviet Premier Khrushchev to keep a restraining hand on Fidel Castro's trigger finger when he gives the Cuban leader control of a modern arsenal of anti-aircraft missiles in the near future.

This is one of two motives behind an unusual series of public statements and secret diplomatic moves warning down any of the U.S. photo-reconnaissance planes which periodically fly over their island.

The other purpose is to try to get Prime Minister Castro and his advisers to understand that, as one official here put it, "We just won't tolerate any interference with those overflights which are essential to our security."

Officials here say privately that if Castro shoots down a U.S. plane he will have to expect a quick and violent retaliation. But so far, no one in a position of authority has been willing to say what form such retaliation would take.

At the time a U.S. U2 photo reconnaissance plane was shot down over Cuba during the October 1962 missile crisis, there was widespread talk in Washington that if another such incident occurred the United States would knock out the Cuban anti-aircraft missile bases by selective bombing attack.

LATEST WARNING

The latest of the new warnings to Cuba came from President Johnson Tuesday in talking to a group of newsmen at the White House.

"It is essential that we maintain surveillance and know whether any missiles are being shipped into Cuba. We will have to maintain our reconnaissance and over-flights," the President said.

"Any action on their part to stop that would be a very serious action. We have so informed them and their friends." The President did not say what friends of the Castro regime he had in mind but the implication was clear enough that he was speaking of the Russians.

UNEASY FEARS

Ironically, the present uneasy fears of a new Cuban crisis arise from the apparently imminent success of the United States in achieving one of its major objectives — the withdrawal from Cuba of the last of the Soviet troops which went into the island in 1962 when the Soviet Union was installing nuclear missiles with which it could have launched a direct attack on the United States.

It was this action which produced the crisis which was broken when Khrushchev withdrew the missiles. Soon afterward he began a slow withdrawal of the combat forces which he had introduced and U.S. officials now expect the last contingent of around 3,000 officers and men to leave in the next two or three weeks.

EARLY DEPARTURE

In preparation for their departure, as the situation is understood here, the remaining Soviet forces have been training Cuban troops in the operation and use of modern and highly efficient anti-aircraft missiles which are capable of shooting down jet planes operating at very high altitudes, including the U2. There are 24 bases for the surface-to-air missiles — SAMS — and about 500 of the missiles themselves in Cuba, according to intelligence reports.

Dr. George Diehl Stahley, 87, one of the oldest alumni of Gettysburg College and for 50 years a member of its faculty, died Sunday evening at 10:45 o'clock at this home, 300 Carlisle St., after a long illness. The recipient of many honors from professional associates and college and alumni groups, Dr. Stahley became professor emeritus of biology and hygiene at the college in 1920 and also served as medical director until 1936 when he retired from active participation in college affairs after having served as a member of the faculty since 1889. He is survived by his wife, the former Miss Anne Elizabeth Young, whom he married in 1891, and one sister.

Orchestra To Play Tunes: The orchestra that will play for the Gettysburg college musical "Who Could Say No," was heard over the York broadcasting station Tuesday evening. The show, which was written by Dr. Richard A. Arms, has original music composed by Keith and Robert Fischer and John Henry, college students. The orchestra expects to broadcast some of the tunes from the show over a Harrisburg station Monday evening. The performance will be given in the college gymnasium Wednesday evening.

King's Grant: The sale of the W. Scott Morrison farm near Berdysville has revealed that the property is one of the oldest in Menallen township. It was purchased recently by the G. M. W. company of Adams County. The original owner of the farm was John Morton. He received the grant from the King of England in 1748. Subsequently he transferred the land to his son-in-law, George Hewitt, Sr., in 1800. Twenty years later George Hewitt Jr. and his sister, Mary, received the property from their father. William Morrison purchased the farm in 1840 and built a colonial brick house. The farm had been the home of the Morrison descendants for three generations.

Child Welfare Incorporated: Articles of incorporation for the Adams County Child Welfare association were placed on file Wednesday morning in the office of Prothonotary C. Arthur Brame at the court house by Bulleit and Bulleit, Esqs., to await court approval and the recording of the articles whereupon the organization will come into legal existence. The articles list these purposes of the organization: "To minister to the needs of children, and in co-operation with other interested agencies to work toward providing adequate care and attention for all children in Adams county and to that end to lease or purchase and own real estate and to purchase and own personal property." The Rev. D. F. Putnam is president of the organization.

Warren Buys Rex Building: George W. and Flora Rex, Gettysburg, have sold the garage and apartment building on the southwest corner of York and Stratton street intersection to J. Melvin Warren, Arendtsville. The consideration was $28,500. For the last six years Mr. Warren has leased the greater part of the first floor of the building for garage and office space doing business as the Warren Chevrolet Sales company.

Today's Talk

THE GROWING MIND

At a certain period the body stops its growth. From then on a development goes on in accordance with the wish and will of the person occupying this body. But even the body then begins to flow backward in strength and efficiency. It has its limits of both power and strength.

On the other hand, take the mind, housed in this body of ours. Its growth is unlimited! Every bit of knowledge, or experience, adds to its growth and vigor. The body may limp—but the mind may leap! The body can be enslaved and imprisoned but you cannot do that to the mind.

The mind is the only hope of the world, for it is the only thing that enjoys universal and permanent freedom. Milton, John Bunyan, and Cervantes all wrote their great masterpieces in jail. It was in jail that Sydney Porter conceived the name of "O. Henry," under which pen-name he wrote himself into fame.

Any number of great books have been written while the body has been literally chained to a sick-bed. Alfred Ollivant wrote that greatest of all dog stories, "Bob, Son of Battle," while an invalid on his back. The mind lives, and healthily thrives, through growth.

The growth of any tree is most interesting. Some years ago I noted a small maple that had sprung up beside a stone wall on my home grounds. I thought of pulling it up, then I changed my mind and let it grow. Today it is about twenty feet high, and a beautiful tree it is, in summer, giving out both shade and symmetry where it stands.

But nothing in this world can compare, in interest and wonder, to the growth of the mind. From the free, budding thoughts of the child to those of men and women in maturity, have grown intellects that have astounded the world—and all posterity pays tribute to them.

So long as your mind grows you have nothing to fear from life. You will be taken care of and your mastery over difficulties and problems will become a joy. Nothing is truer than that "knowledge is power." Own a growing mind and you need have no worry as to other possessions; you will then own the key that unlocks the door into whatever you may most desire!

FUNDAMENTALS

We must get back to our bases, the old simple truths of all time: That only by steadfast endeavor was mortal intended to climb; That life pays no heed to the scroffer, but treats its immutable way; And the joys which are claimed without labor are lost with the first rainy day.

Security comes with deserving and not from the goodness of chance.

The soldier who'd live through the battle must learn how to handle his lance.

Life's laws will not alter to please us, unchanged to the end they remain.

Who wants the assurance of knowledge must study in wisdom to gain.

And whether we face it with scorn, or whether we like it or no,

Who seeks to be honored and trusted has only the one road to go.

We may talk about riches and praise them, but no man can call them secure.

For it's only the things of the spirit, such as courage and faith, which endure.

We must get back to our bases; to the heavens we've known in the past;

To a cheerful submission to duty wherever our fortunes are cast;

To the tasks which are spread out before us and give them the best we possess;

And admit that in character only a man may be sure of success.

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA TRADE JAILED SPIES

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP)—Britain exchanged Soviet spy Gordon Lonsdale today for British businessmen Maynard Greville Wynne, jailed by the Soviets as a courier of espionage information.

The British Foreign Office said it agreed to the exchange because Wynne was ill.

The exchange was made at the Heerstrasse crossing point between the British sector of West Berlin and East Germany at 5:35 a.m. and took just over 20 minutes.

GIVEN 9 YEARS

Informants in London said Wynne was flown from Moscow to East Berlin. They said Lonsdale was taken from prison in Birmingham and flown to the British air force base at Gatow about five miles from the border point where the exchange was made.

Wynne, 45, was sentenced in Moscow last May to eight years detention—three in prison and five in a labor camp.

Lonsdale, 40, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment in 1961 as the mastermind of a spy ring operating at the Portland naval research establishment.

DENIES ILLNESS

Wynne's wife, Sheila, denied that he was ill.

"He may be half the size he was when he started his sentence, but he's in splendid form," she said at her London home.

A family friend said Wynne was expected to arrive at his home this afternoon.

The Foreign Office said the Soviet Union proposed on April 7 to pardon Wynne if the British would free Lonsdale.

Wynne was on a business trip in Budapest in November 1962 when he was arrested by Hungarian secret police. He was tried in Moscow with Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet official charged with selling atomic secrets to the West. Penkovsky was executed.

Wynne testified before the Soviet military court that the British intelligence service had duped him into serving as a courier. He said that for six months he never knew what was in the packages he gave to and received from Penkovsky.

SENTENCE YANKS

Testimony at Lonsdale's trial revealed that he had penetrated the British underwater naval research plant at Portland.

Convicted with him were two Americans, Peter Kroger, 50, and his wife, Helen, 47. They were later identified as Morris and Lona Cohen.

The Cohens, who operated a powerful shortwave radio station for Soviet intelligence, were sentenced to 20 years each.

Two Britons, Harry Houghton, 56-year-old admiralty clerk, and his fiancée, Ethel Gee, 46, both received 15 years for their part in Lonsdale's ring.

COURT RULES ON CAR SEIZURE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An automobile used in the illegal transportation of whisky—even if seized and searched illegally by police—is contraband under state law, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled Tuesday in a unanimous decision.

The decision upholds a Superior Court decision, which had reversed a ruling by the Philadelphia Quarter Sessions court. The Philadelphia court ruled against forfeiture of the auto—its ownership listed only as "McGonigle"—on grounds that its seizure was based on evidence obtained illegally.

A move by the Commonwealth to take possession of the car brought the issue, which is often before the courts, before the state's highest tribunal.

The car was seized on Dec. 16, 1960 by agents of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, who stopped the car after it was driven across from Camden, N.J. They found 375 bottles of whisky and wine in the rear section and in the trunk. The bottles bore no state tax seals.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Musmanno Says He Is Better Dancer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate, says that while he is four years older than Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., he can outlast him dancing.

Clark, who will be 63 next Oct. 21, is supporting Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, for the nomination.

"As far as his age is concerned," Musmanno said Tuesday "I challenge the senator to select a partner and I will select one also so we can do a good, vivacious polka."

"I believe he'd collapse before I would," Musmanno said.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington COSA NOSTRA: Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., disagrees with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's assessment of testimony about Cosa Nostra such as that given by ex-mobster Joseph Valachi.

In testimony given Rooney's House Appropriations subcommittee last Jan. 30 and released Tuesday, Kennedy called testimony such as Valachi's "one of the most significant developments in the field of law enforcement in recent years."

But Rooney said Valachi was "utterly cockeyed" about the death of an important witness years ago and implied that everything Valachi had said has been known for 20 or 30 years.

BRIEFINGS: Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona calls on a proposal by President Johnson to give intelligence briefings to "major candidates for the office of president."

But perennial GOP candidate Harold E. Stassen quickly accepted Johnson's Monday offer and said he will ask that intelligence officers come to him in Indiana, where he is campaigning in that state's GOP presidential primary.

Goldwater said the President should wait until the Republicans pick a candidate before offering any secret data. He said too much security information is already being discussed politically—especially by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, like Goldwater a candidate for the GOP nomination, said in New Orleans he wouldn't comment without knowing more about the President's proposal.

ARRESTS: Authoritative sources say the United States and Soviet Union are close to a consular agreement after the Soviets agreed that whenever an American is arrested in the Soviet Union the American consular must be notified and permitted to visit him in prison.

The sources said Tuesday that the Soviet Union had been told that the United States would not consider a pact without this proviso.

COMMUNIST: The Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to review a federal appeals court ruling that overturned conviction of the Communist party on a charge of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. Court of Appeals last year threw out the Dec. 17, 1962, federal court conviction. The party was convicted of violating the Subversive Activities Control Act and given the maximum penalty of a $120,000 fine. In its ruling the appeals court said the government had failed to prove that there was a volunteer available who would step forward and register for the party under the 1950 act.

HOLD PIZZA PARTY

Over 50 young people, members of the Luther League of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, near White Hall, and their guests enjoyed a pizza party on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cullison, near town. Two quartets participated in a "Beatle" contest, Carole Dayhoff, Connie Dayhoff, Debbie Dayhoff and Joyce Dayhoff, and Mary Cullison, Barbara Sheely, Jeanne Bessel and Beverly Hartlaub. The contest was won by the former group.

The birthdays of the Rev. Mark A. Heiney, pastor, and Debbie Dayhoff, were noted. There were more contests and dancing. Refreshments were served. The regular meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday at the church.

RED WINGS WIN AGAIN

TORONTO (AP)—Manager-

Coach Sid Abel expressed new confidence that his Detroit Red Wings would go all the way after scoring a 2-1 victory over Toronto in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoff finals Tuesday night.

The triumph gave the Red Wings a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series which returns to Detroit Thursday night. A seventh and deciding game, if necessary, will be played at Toronto Saturday night.

"For perhaps the first time in the series I feel really confident we can take them," Abel said. "We came out fast in the first period and beat them to the puck all the way except for the final period."

The eventual winning goal was scored early in the third period by Eddie Joyal. He took a perfect pass from Andre Pronovost and rammed the puck through Toronto goalie Johnny Bower's legs.

Bullets Win Triangular Meet At Albright Under Waterlogged Conditions

Despite the water soaked track and runways, the Gettysburg College track team captured 10 first places and rolled to its first triangular meet victory of the season with a total of 65 points Tuesday afternoon in Reading. Host school Albright finished second with 64 points and Johns Hopkins came in with 13.

Gettysburg's Jim Lombardi was the only double winner throughout the afternoon. The Bullet distance man continued to dominate the mile and two-mile runs with times of 4:40 and 10:26.1, respectively.

MARKS SUFFER

Most of the times, heights and distances were so far out of range due to the wet conditions that many observers wondered if it was a collegiate contest. A mud puddle in the high jump pits kept the winning leap by Gettysburg's Dick Dress to 5'4".

Gettysburg captured all but one of the running events. The Bullet had Bob Linders, Jerry Staub and Roger Malehorn back in the fold, but Connie Snyder is still nursing an injury. Johns Hopkins had it troubles by placing just two men in the track events. George Costello capped a fourth in the 440 and Mike Fauntleroy pulled down a third in the 120 high hurdles.

Coach Hal Glad's cindermen are now 3-2 on the season including two trimsets. The Bullet coach will take a small portion of the squad to Philadelphia this week to compete in the annual Penn relays.

The results:

100-yard dash: 1. Boyd, G.; 2. Comanale, A.; 3. Siss, G.; 4. Hunsinger, A. Time: 10.4.

MAUCH IS NOT DECEIVED BY STUMBLING LA

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch, viewing the Dodgers' worst start in Los Angeles history with extreme caution, warned the rest of the National League today not to be lulled into false security.

"This is only temporary," said Mauch of the Dodgers' dismal record of six losses in their first seven games. "They are a sleeping giant right now. But you know they're going to wake up soon."

The youthful pilot made it clear he was in no mood for crowing despite his team's top record of four victories in five starts.

"MATTER OF TIME"

"We just happened to get off to a fast start while the Dodgers got off slowly," he said. "But we're not going to be lulled to sleep by their slump. We know they're a fine club and they'll start playing the brand of ball they're capable of. It's just a matter of time."

"The worst thing we can do is take the Dodgers lightly," Gene added. "That goes for any other club in this league. Take any one of them lightly and they'll pinch your ears back."

"Look what happened to the Phillies last year. We took 31 games from the New York and Houston clubs in 1962. Last year we won only 20 from the same clubs. It just proves what can happen."

Mauch was somewhat concerned by the early season belting of the San Francisco and Milwaukee hitters.

"They sure can throw a scare at you," he said, "especially those Giants. They are the only club in our league who can look bad and still beat you. You hold 'em for six, seven innings and then bang, bang, bang. Those shots you heard came from the bats of Mays, McCovey and Cepeda."

"The Dodgers and Cards must play good to win. We must play good to win. They can play bad and still win."

DALLAS (AP) — When the Dallas Cowboys got Tommy McDonald in a trade with the Philadelphia Eagles, a warm glow of confidence spread over the Dallas front office.

General opinion seemed to be that this was the one last thing needed to put the Cowboys on top of the National Football League.

He was the second great passer receiver snared by General Manager Tex Schramm. Buddy Dial was the first—he was acquired from Pittsburgh for a draft choice that the Steelers couldn't cash in on.

YOGI BERRA IS IN CELLAR BUT NOT WORRIED

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Yogi Berra chomped on a big black cigar and with Chicago's wind blowing the few remaining strands of his hair he philosophically remarked:

"So we're in last place. So what. If this were the last week of the season, I might be worried. But this is the first week of the season."

With that the freshman manager of the New York Yankees predicted his club will repeat for the American League pennant.

LOSS IN OVERTIME
"Look at this way," said Berra. "How would you like to have my starting line-up? Would you trade it for any other club in the league?"

Berra was unconcerned over the fact that the Yankees were in last place in the American League with a 1-4 record.

"Remember," said Berra, "we could just as easily have been 4-1. We lost three games in extra innings."

Despite the Yankees' bad start Berra said he loved managing.

"WHY WORRY?"
"The only bad point of managing is losing extra inning games," remarked Berra. "We have had good pitching and I know my guys will hit. If they don't, then I'll know it's just a bad year."

Berra said the fact that he had inherited a league champion club had put no undue pressure on him.

"We lost three extra inning games and we didn't look too good in spring training. But I'll bet there isn't a team in the American League that wouldn't trade its starting line-up for mine. So why should I worry?"

PHILS MEET PIRATES AT HOME TONIGHT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies return home Wednesday, still atop the National League, though they haven't played a game since Sunday.

The Phillies, hoping to fatten their league lead with two scheduled games against the humble New York mets, were washed out of the two-game series in the World's Fair town and may work out indoors today.

Manager Gene Mauch said the club will bus to the University of Delaware's Carpenter fieldhouse in time to work out at noon. At that time, it would be known if the scheduled night game with the Pittsburgh Pirates can be played.

If the game is still on, the workout will be brief, but if rain forces another postponement, the drill will be a long one.

Jim Bunning, who beat the Mets in his only outing a week ago, will face the Pirates, who will send Bob Friend to the hill.

The Phils go into the game with an additional relief pitcher on the roster. The club purchased Ed Roebuck from the Washington Senators shortly before the postponement Tuesday.

Roebuck was expected to be in uniform Wednesday night.

To make room for Roebuck, the Phillies sent outfielder Alex Johnson to their Little Rock farm club on 24-hour recall.

BROTHERS OWN 1,000-TO-ONE SHOT IN DERBY

By KELSO STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Admiral's Heart, a sickly, boney, little colt who was purchased as an undernourished yearling for $500, is listed at 1,000-1 in the Kentucky Derby Future Book, but this means nothing to his owners.

The Nocero brothers, six of them in all, have made up their minds to send Admiral's Heart in the Kentucky Derby—if they can keep him in good health for the May 2 run for the roses.

Admiral's Heart made the second start of his career Tuesday at Keeneland and finished a tired fourth in a six-furlong event for 3 and 4-year-olds which have never won a race.

In the only other start of his career, he finished last, beaten 22 lengths last Sept. 23 at Latonia.

SPRITS BRIGHT
But this has done nothing to dim the spirit and enthusiasm of the brothers six—Rinzy, Roger, Boniface (just call him Joe), Macistro, Carmen and Rudy.

"We're happy with what he did," said Roger Nocero, who trains the colt, as he reviewed Tuesday's race. "He had the lead for a while—which isn't bad considering he's been sick and off his feed."

Roger, getting some help from Rinzy, a muscle-bound former prize fighter who you would think twice about before sassing, explained that the Admiral came down with a virus about a week ago and hasn't been feeling so good.

SPLIT EXPENSES
"But we think it's all cleared up now," he said. "We're going to watch him close—and if he's okay—we plan to send him back in the Derby Trial next Tuesday, and then the Derby."

"I'm just anxious to see how he breaks against those big-shot colts," said Rinzy, explaining the horse was bred for both speed and distance. Admiral's Heart is a son of Blue Admiral-Sis Kiss by Seven Hearts.

The brothers plan to split the Derby expenses for the colt—which could run as high as $1,800-$1,900, including starting fees. And Rinzy is quick to point out that they're all glad to do it.

The brothers are from Park Hills, Ky., a northern Kentucky community near Cincinnati.

Rinzy and Roger own a liquor store and Joe and Macistro own a grocery and meat market. Rudy is a professional dancer in New York, while Carmen manages a drug store in that city.

More Baseball Games Washed Out

It was another washout for area baseball games Tuesday as continued inclement weather brought a wave of postponements.

In the Adams County League the Gettysburg-Biglerville game at Biglerville was rescheduled for May 11; Bermudian Springs and Littlestown until tonight at 7:30 at Littlestown, and Fairfield-New Oxford at New Oxford on Friday.

Thursday's regularly scheduled games includes Littlestown at Gettysburg, New Oxford at Bermudian and Biglerville at Fairfield, all at 4 o'clock.

The Mt. St. Mary's-Hampden-Sydney game at Emmitsburg was also rained out.

Woman Expert Says Stocks Require Constant Watching

By JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "Stocks should be watched like a baby — never let out of your sight," says the investment expert with a knowledgeable chuckle. "They can change overnight."

That motherly little analogy sums up, as succinctly as anything, the quiet revolution that has been going on in Wall Street. It's something a woman would say — and did; specifically, Lottie Kahn, account executive of a New York Exchange member company and author of the recent book "Women and Wall Street."

But it wasn't so long ago, in the days when a "customer's man" meant just that, that a woman was as welcome in the board rooms of brokerage houses as watered stock in a Siberian coal mine during the Russian Revolution. If one did show up, and without a notebook — necessary to indicate legitimate business — her reputation was shattered.

WOMEN STOCKHOLDERS

Nowadays, says Mrs. Kahn, the cigar smoke has thinned out and these erstwhile men's clubs are no longer exclusively male. More than 2,000 women today buy and sell stocks and bonds on Wall Street, she says; more than half of all American stockholders are women.

This doesn't mean capitulation to the sex often considered capable only of coping with the household budget book. But there's no doubt another bastion of male supremacy is crumbling.

Mrs. Kahn's firm is a particularly cheerful example. In the main office in New York, where she's worked the last three years, there are about 40 registered representatives (formerly called customer's men) of which eight are women.

"This is a tremendous percentage," agrees the pleasantly rounded, brunette mother of two college youngsters.

MEN ARE JEALOUS
"But in my first office I was the only woman. The men were jealous and it became unbearable. I had to quit."

When she joined the Brokers Association in the spring of 1959 she was often the only woman present at meetings. "They'd have to say 'Lady and gentleman.' . . . Now things are changing rapidly. The field is getting bigger and bigger for women. Although there are still plenty of companies that won't take women, we're in it for good, that's sure."

"I have two bits of advice to women who are interested in entering the field:

"1. Be sure you can take the strain of the market fluctuations. If you're very emotional, or have weak nerves, it's no business for you."

"2. You have to be good at figures — and fast."

LIFELONG INTEREST

Mrs. Kahn says she's had a lifelong interest in the stock market. Her father was a well-to-do textile manufacturer in Germany, "but he never bought stock or real estate in his life. It bothered me that he kept so much in savings accounts for only a few cents interest."

After Mrs. Kahn and her husband, Alfred, now an international business consultant, came to this country in 1939 they operated a factory making closet accessories. He was president and she was vice president and treasurer. When they sold it 15 years later she went into a brokerage firm as a trainee.

"I took the examinations in 3½ months — you're not allowed to do it so rapidly any more. You have to pass them before you can be a licensed representative; you can't buy or sell securities on the New York Stock Exchange without it."

Then she had to start from scratch to build up a clientele. "You talk to friends, and acquaintances and get recommendations. You get them if they

Many Mothers On Relief Untrained To Hold Jobs

EDITOR'S NOTE: Almost every community faces the problem of helping mothers who receive Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments get jobs. The answer varies according to different circumstances, but here is the story see you're not just out for the commission. Well, I'm not high pressure. The hot tip isn't in my dictionary."

Today Mrs. Kahn's clients are 65 per cent men, 35 women.

"Women are more trouble than men," she says candidly. "They read more about financial things today than they ever did, but their experience doesn't date back as far as most men's. Yet some women think they know more than anyone else."

In either sex, the hardest people to deal with, she goes on, are people who aren't informed but who listen to a dozen friends — all with opinions on exactly what she should do.

Mrs. Kahn's at her desk by 9 in the morning, works steadily until late afternoon — except for the briefest of lunches — and goes home to cook dinner.

Evenings she reads reports to familiarize herself with new companies — their management, earnings, growth record — and what is selling to whom. It isn't exactly relaxing escape literature, but to Lottie Kahn the most exciting fan Fleming thriller can't compare with the latest Dow-Jones industrial averages.

REASONS FOR NOT WORKING
They had various reasons for not going to work.

Mrs. Oliver says some felt that since their children had no father in the house the mother should make an extra effort to be there. Welfare workers tried to convince these women that a responsible sitter could give the children good care during working hours, and the mother could be with them at other times.

Other mothers did not want to go to a prospective employer and possibly have to tell him they were on ADC.

Some had overcome this resistance and applied for jobs, but without success. Welfare workers intervened with employers and found jobs for some of these.

REGULAR MEETINGS

The program began last March when social workers and personnel of the mental health unit began regular meetings with six ADC mothers. Five weeks later, three of these were at work. Two more groups, one of five and one of six, then were taken through the counseling period. Nine of these 11 took jobs.

In every case, the job paid very little.

Mrs. Oliver says some mothers found that working, with its additional expense for clothing, travel and baby sitting, added little if anything to the mother's total income.

PROFIT IN PRIDE
The profit came in the pride the mother felt in earning some thing for herself after living solely on public support for months, she says.

Of the 12 who found work, six became domestics or baby sitters, two found places as waitresses, another works in a restaurant kitchen, one became a hotel maid, and two obtained jobs in hospitals — one in the supply department and another in the kitchen.

The program ran into difficulty late last year when employment in the county dropped and jobs generally became harder to find, Mrs. Oliver says.

"Our people were more affected because of the lesser skills they possess," she says. "The community could not absorb them. We must now wait until the employment situation is more favorable."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

These standards immediately removed many of the ADC mothers from consideration. Because of this, Mrs. Ruth Oliver county welfare director, says such a program will not guarantee that 12 out of every 17 mothers on the ADC rolls can go to work.

All the mothers involved in the program had high school diplomas. Some previously had held jobs.

REASONS FOR NOT WORKING
They had various reasons for not going to work.

Mrs. Oliver says some felt that since their children had no father in the house the mother should make an extra effort to be there. Welfare workers tried to convince these women that a responsible sitter could give the children good care during working hours, and the mother could be with them at other times.

Other mothers did not want to go to a prospective employer

HEART DISEASE DRUG IS USED IN GLAUCOMA

By PHIL BERGER

ATLANTA (AP) — Imagine an enclosed bathtub slowly filling with water. After water reaches the brim, pressure begins building inside the covered tub.

This is what the eye of a person stricken with glaucoma is like — a vessel with excess fluid and a serious inability to drain the liquid.

Scientists at Emory University believe they've found a way to reduce this pressure which causes glaucoma's characteristic hardening of the eyeballs.

Dr. Morton Waitzman, head of the eye research center in the department of ophthalmology, says, "We believe we've found a drug that will retard the chemical mechanisms in the eye which produce too much fluid."

TREATMENT FOR HEART

The drug is ouabain, usually taken internally for treatment of heart disease. Dr. Waitzman administered ouabain into the eyes of rabbits and later measurements showed the eyes were softer.

Dr. Waitzman says that 5 to 10 per cent of the nation's population past 40 either suffers from glaucoma or has latent traces of the disease.

Waitzman says use of his discovery is pending follow-up work on secondary harmful effects. Ouabain injections will not eliminate glaucoma but will improve the arsenal of surgical and drug treatments, he says. Often patients become unresponsive to specific treatments. Dr. Waitzman says he is the first to report success after local ouabain administration.

INVESTIGATE CATARACTS
Another scientist at Emory, Dr. John F. R. Kuck Jr., is investigating the chemical changes in the lens of the eye that leads to cataracts. The breakdown of lens structure is due to an accumulation of abnormal sugar in the lens.

Treatment of cataracts is limited to surgery and the wearing of a thick lens afterwards. Dr. Kuck has already found that changes in diet can affect the lens composition in eyes of old animals. He is seeking a drug treatment for cataracts. The problem is most serious in elderly persons.

Hunting accidents in the South have caused another eye problem of operating on hunters who have lead shot in their eyes. Diabetic retinopathy, another eye disease which often strikes diabetics of 20-25 years suffering also is under study at Emory.

Waitzman believes the presence or absence of an unknown substance circulating in the blood causes retinopathy. He says that the eye disease will often appear before bodily diabetes occurs. He is trying to find the chemical or drug that can treat changes in the blood vessels that feed the retina.

Huge Vise Tests Grounded Rockets

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Test engineers soon will be able to put the squeeze on the world's largest rockets.

A huge nutcracker, called a load test facility, is nearing completion at the Marshall Space Flight Center.

The tool is a 30-million pound test tower capable of testing rockets more than 65 feet in diameter.

Inside the tower, a support project of the Saturn V moon rocket will be pushed, pulled and twisted to tell engineers what forces will break up their space vehicle.

The working part of the 140-foot-high tower is a 1,500 ton steel crosshead, or movable platform. The crosshead is 20 feet thick and will move up or down 103 feet — from the top of the tower to about 25 feet above the ground.

Picture, then, a rocket — cushioned only by several hydraulic cylinders between it and the crosshead — being crushed, stretched and twisted by up to 30 million pounds of force from the top and 750,000 pounds from the sides.

The building housing the great vise and the tower itself will contain some 4,000 tons of structural steel. The crosshead represents approximately one and one-half times as much steel as was used in the space center headquarters building.

Tower and building both are set on a reinforced concrete and steel foundation tied into bedrock about 30 feet down.

The four main tower legs — whose bases each are 130 feet long and weigh 80 tons — presented a problem to the builders.

The legs had to be tilted slightly outward so that when the full weight of the crosshead is applied they will lean inward and straighten out.

DESIGNERS USE LESS JEWELRY
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Since contour is everything in the sudden rage for the plunging neckline, Paris fashion designers are carefully placing jewelry in order not to detract.

At the house of Venet, for example, the sparkle is at the nape of the neck. A crescent shaped pendant, studded with rhinestones and topped with a pearl, dribbled down one model's back during the spring shows.

Indiana Plant Processes Deadly Nerve Gas In Race To Discourage Aggressors

EDITOR'S NOTE—At a plant in western Indiana, the United States makes a deadly nerve gas in a race to stay ahead of any aggressor, just "so he won't be tempted."

By JAMES R. POLK
NEWPORT, Ind. (AP)—In a cloistered complex of buildings on a hill in western Indiana, the United States brews and bottles one of war's deadliest weapons.

It is nerve gas, a stealthy assassin that is odorless, tasteless and virtually invisible. A drop, breathed or soaked into the skin, can kill.

At the end of an assembly line laced with 40 miles of pipes, the liquefied gas is poured into rockets, land mines and artillery shells—destination secret.

MAJOR SUPPLY CENTER

The facility, housed in a former atomic energy installation now known as the Newport Chemical Plant, is the nation's major supply center for nerve gas. It has been in operation 24 hours a day for three years.

Details on the gas are secret, but a plant official describes it as "hundreds of times more toxic" than any commercial chemical.

An Army publication says only that the gas can "cause death within four minutes." A congressional report says less than a minute's exposure can kill.

"This stuff here was originally developed as an insecticide," says a vice president of the FMC Corp. which operates the plant under a government contract.

COMPLEX PROCESS

The chemicals which form the nerve gas are mixed and boiled in a plumber's nightmare of pipes, furnaces, pumping towers and reaction vats. At one point, the product looks like frozen milk.

In a separate building, the gas is pumped into rockets and other munitions by automatic equipment in a sealed compartment.

The equipment fills the rocket, X-rays it to measure the contents, rinses and dries it, and checks for leaks.

From Newport, the rockets and artillery shells are shipped in "normal Army supply channels," says Lt. Col. William J. Tisdale, officer in charge at the plant. He will say no more.

"Everything we have here we

RUSH WORK ON WORLD'S FAIR FOR OPENING

By ROBERT HOLTON
NEW YORK (AP)—A small army of workmen—many of them weary from weeks of stepped-up operations—raced today to get the New York World's Fair ready for Wednesday morning's opening.

Last-minute construction and other work went on through the night under floodlights.

Among those in the vanguard of 70 million persons expected to visit the exposition during its two six-month runs will be President Johnson.

The President is to fly from Washington to address 16,000 guests invited to attend the opening day ceremonies in the fair's Singer Bowl. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner are to attend.

NEAR COMPLETION

Officials of the multimillion-dollar exposition said the fair will be better than 90 per cent completed for the 9 a.m. opening.

Still to be handled are some cleanup chores, laying of patches of sod and minor construction on buildings which will open for visitors Wednesday, regardless.

Some larger areas, a foreign village and a few other displays, will not be able to accommodate visitors for a week or more.

Various setbacks caused delays in their building plans, but a fair spokesman said they are so situated that they will offer little inconvenience to visitors.

Fair officials admit they can not estimate how many persons would like for the public to know, but we don't want the Russians to know," Tisdale explains.

The nerve gas is dispersed in a spray when its carrier explodes. It kills by attacking the body's cholinesterase, substance transmitting nerve signals for muscles to expand.

ORGANS STRANGLER

When this fluid is crippled, muscles continue to constrict and the body strangles its own vital organs. There is an antidote, atropine, but it must be injected quickly, and the gas gives no warning.

Manufacture is inexpensive. The Newport operation spends about $3 million annually—less than the cost of one jet bomber.

The plant includes a complete hospital. Ten per cent of the operating budget is spent on safety. There has never been a plant fatality.

Contrary to popular belief, the United States is not bound by any treaties forbidding the use of nerve gas.

Tisdale describes the Newport operation simply as "a race to stay ahead of any aggressor so he won't be tempted."

Producer Denies Royal Connection

LONDON (AP)—Prince Littler, operator of a dozen London theaters and 20 provincial playhouses, explains that his first name has nothing to do with the royal family but is very much his own.

Littler was the third child of a family dominated by feminine off-spring. When an aunt heard the news, she told his mother: aren't you clever, it's a little prince."

will visit the fair opening day. This could be partially attributed to announced plans of civil rights groups to cause a massive traffic jam along roadways leading to the fair.

COVERS 646 ACRES

The 646-acre fairgrounds, in Flushing Meadow Park is laced with broad macadam and cement, tree-shaded, walkways and vehicular arteries along which visitors will amble and ride in buses to and from exhibits.

Rising high over most fair buildings is the Unisphere—a massive, stainless steel model of the world—setting the fair's theme: "Peace Through Understanding."

Music Group Uses Old Bowling Alley

TOTOWA, N. J. (AP)—Abandoned stores, empty churches and unused union halls are among structures that have been converted into theaters. Now a bowling alley has been taken over.

The Gladiators Music Arena is being operated here in a building put up two years ago for kegger tournaments that failed to draw expected throngs. As a 2,000-seat playhouse, a series of comedies and musical shows are scheduled for exhibit through Labor Day.

Lindbergh's Hangar Is Now Film Studio

NEW YORK (AP)—The Long Island hangar out of which the Spirit of St. Louis was wheeled for Charles Lindbergh's memorable solo flight across the Atlantic in 1927 is now being used as a studio for making of feature films.

"Lillith" interiors are being shot in the remodeled building to start movie use. The renovation was instituted by Michael Myerberg, stage and screen producer on the property that is about 30 miles from midtown Manhattan.

TAKES ISSUE WITH ATTACK ON ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Navy usually says nothing when Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover stands up and rocks the boat, but the last time apparently was too much.

A third Navy admiral took exception Monday to Rickover's statement to Congress that the Naval Academy should either reform itself as an educational institution or be abolished.

Rear Adm. Charles C. Kirkpatrick, who completed a 17-month tour as academy superintendent last Jan. 11, called the testimony "extravagant and exaggerated."

He indicated Rickover, head of the Navy's nuclear program, was either not fully aware of what's been going on at his alma mater or gave it no credit for trying to keep abreast of technological changes.

2 DISAGREE

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, and Vice Adm. John S. McCain, commander of the Atlantic Fleet amphibious force, had earlier voiced sharp disagreement with various statements in Rickover's testimony.

Rickover's latest blast at the Navy came in testimony before the House Appropriations committee March 6. It was released publicly last Friday. He criticized teaching methods at the academy, use of officers on the faculty, duties given midshipman officers, emphasis on sports, and other facets of academy life.

MONTREAL, Canada (AP)—An ecumenical center "to contribute to a mutual better understanding between Catholics and Christians of other religious denominations" will be opened here this fall, Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, archbishop of Montreal, has announced.

Vatican Mission Off To Istanbul

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A special Vatican mission flew to Istanbul on Monday night for the first high-level contacts between the papacy and Orthodox Catholicism since Pope Paul VI and Patriarch Athenagoras I met in the Holy Land, a highly qualified source reported today.

The three-man delegation would pursue ideas brought up since the Roman Catholic pontiff and the spiritual leader of world Orthodoxy talked in Jerusalem last Jan. 5-6 during the Pope's pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

"Raisin" Author Writes Two More

NEW YORK (AP)—Lorraine Hansberry who triumphantly bowed as a playwright with "A Raisin in the Sun," has completed two further dramas that she hopes will have her name up in lights over the next pair of seasons.

"The Sign in Sidney Burstein's Window," about a young intellectual, is expected to emerge on Broadway's stage first. "Les Blancs," about a new African nation, is pencilled in for 1964-'65 display.

Albee Company Named For Zodiac

NEW YORK (AP) One of the sponsors of Edward Albee's second Broadway play, "The Ballad of the Sad Cafe," is Pisces Productions, which is Albee's own business corporation.

Why Pisces? That's the sign under which Albee's March 12 birthday falls.

"The Ballad" however is to open in October—under the sign of Libra.

Reddish lunar spots that have been sighted with increasing frequency have raised the possibility that the moon may have a hot interior and an erupting, changing surface. It had long been thought to be a stable, inert body.

BRITAIN JOINS NUCLEAR CUT

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home associated Britain fully today with the U.S.-Soviet cutback in the production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons.

He told the House of Commons:

"I believe that the public announcement of these reductions will do much to foster that confidence which is essential if we are to build on the achievement of the (nuclear) test ban treaty."

Bradly speaking, Labor Party leader Harold Wilson agreed with this analysis. He said the action Monday by President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev "cannot be regarded as a positive act of disarmament, but it is a welcome psychological step on the road to peace."

CUT PRODUCTION

Britain is reducing her own fissionable production. This was spelled out in a government white paper in February. The same decision was reiterated today by Douglas-Home who said that "military plutonium production is being gradually terminated."

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union concluded a limited nuclear test ban in Moscow last August after years of haggling.

Western leaders have expressed hope that this treaty would serve as a foundation for a series of positive steps to halt the world's arms race.

FIRST QUEEN DIES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. H. McConnell, first Queen of the Tournament of Roses, died Monday in Huntington Memorial Hospital at the age of 77.

Mrs. McConnell—then Hallie Woods—was elected in 1905, the first year the tournament had "royalty." She was Rose Queen before there was a Rose Bowl. The football contest didn't begin until 1916.

RAO PROTESTS U. S. RIGHT TO FLY OVER CUBA

By DANIEL HARKER
HAYANA (AP)—The Castro government Monday night rejected U.S. claims to the right to send reconnaissance planes over Cuba and warned that it will defend Cuban air space.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa signed a threatening note to the U.S. government after Washington warned that its planes will continue to fly over Cuba and that use of Soviet missiles against them would create "a highly dangerous situation."

CONTENTS OF NOTE

In his note, delivered to Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer for transmission to the United States, Roa replied:

"The U.S. government would bear responsibility exclusively for creating this dangerous situation by violating national air space and ignoring international law."

"The government of Cuba does not recognize any right claimed by the U.S. government for such violation and rejects entirely its note of March 27, 1964, in which it ratifies cynically its aim to maintain these spying flights over Cuban territory."

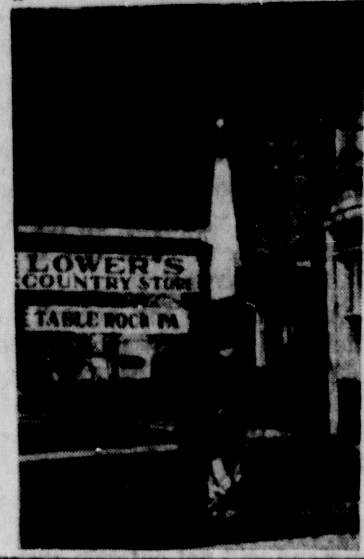

"WILL DEFEND RIGHTS"

"These blackmailing and threatening statements will not frighten the Cuban people or prevent them from defending with dignity and courage their sovereignty and their rights."

Roa said the Cuban government "has protested repeatedly against these flagrant violations of Cuba's sovereignty and the most elementary principles of international law which endanger international peace and security."

CASTRO WARNING

Prime Minister Fidel Castro had warned in a speech Sunday night that Cuba would no longer tolerate violations of its sovereignty by American planes and implied the use of force to stop such flights.

One American reconnaissance plane, a high-altitude U2, was shot down over Cuba during the October 1962 missile crisis, apparently by the same kind of missile the Russians are expected to turn over to Cuban control soon.

AERIAL INSPECTION

A State Department spokesman in Washington said Monday U.S. flights over Cuba "are a substitute for the on-site inspection agreed to by the Soviets in October 1962, but which Fidel Castro refused to permit."

The spokesman noted that the reconnaissance flights were started before the U.S.-Soviet missile crisis, were continued to check Soviet nuclear missiles out of Cuba and will be maintained to guard against re-introduction of such missiles which could threaten the U.S. mainland.

PHOUMA SAYS COALITION HAS LAOS CONTROL

By ANTOINE YARED
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma claimed Tuesday his coalition government continues to function despite the right-wing coup which unseated him two days ago.

Souvanna made the declaration from the balcony of his villa where right-wing military leaders still have him under house arrest.

SUNDAY ARRIVES

U.S. Undersecretary of State William Bundy arrived in Vientiane on a special mission for President Johnson to emphasize Washington's disapproval of the rightists' grab for power Sunday.

Despite the rightist troops ringing Souvanna's villa, the situation appeared to be returning to normal. Souvanna's so-called coalition government has been a powerless facade of a regime for 14 months. The sporadically warring armies of the right-wing, neutralist and pro-Communist factions each control parts of Laos.

From his balcony, Souvanna told newsmen that King Savang

The club observed industry night with officials of local industries. Frank Dunham was in charge of the program, which included a movie on agriculture presented by Jerry Hoke, Potomac Edison Company.

Delegates and laterates to the District 22 convention are Harry B. Dougherty, Thomas Smith, Homer Myers, James Trenary, Raymond J. Perry and Singleton Remsburg. Delegates and alternates to the Lions international to be held in Toronto, Canada, are Dougherty, Remsburg and Lewis R. Baer. President Frank Wargny said that 45 pairs of used eyeglasses have been forwarded to the sight conservation chairman for overseas shipment.

Mrs. Earl Fehl, Biglerville, views the new baked goods display case at Lower's Country Store. The pastry department is a new addition to the store and features homestyle bread, rolls and delicious pastries.

ITALY PROMOTES CAMEL RAISING

PISA, Italy (AP)—Italy is making a so-far successful second try at raising desert sand camels on the lush farmlands of Europe.

Experts here believe that Spain is the only other European country ever to have succeeded in raising camels and putting Vathana, whom he visited with the rebel leaders at the royal capital of Luang Prabang Monday, told him he did not approve of the coup.

COALITION GUARANTEED

Informed sources said the king told Souvanna that even if he resigned as premier, the king could not accept the resignation because the coalition was guaranteed by the 14 nations which signed the Geneva agreement in 1962.

The agreement guaranteed the neutrality of Laos and paved the way for the coalition government. The coalition has not functioned because of continual feuding between the rightists and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Souvanna went to Luang Prabang with the two leaders of the coup, Gens. Kouprasith Abhay and Siho Lamphouthakal. Asked to reconcile his claim that his government still functioned with his being under house arrest, Souvanna replied "I cannot say anything more."

them to use in farming or as beasts of burden.

DROMEDARIES IMPORTED

The Italian experiment started almost a half century ago when dromedaries were imported from North Africa and turned loose on the 10,000-acre Royal Horse Ranch at San Rossore, near the west Italian coast just outside this city of the leaning tower.

The Italian kings used the estate for raising horses for the Royal bodyguard cavalry. Since the war the lands have become a national park, and are used for horticultural experiments and the raising of pheasants.

WORK ANIMALS

In prewar days the camels of San Rossore were used as work animals on the estate and hauled wood. They multiplied over the years until there were 80 or more.

All were killed during the war. In 1956 Italy decided to try the experiment again. The King of Libya made a gift of two dromedaries, Galante, a male, and Bellaria, a female.

The number has increased to five with the birth of Nadir, Belinda and Mustafa.

But they no longer run wild on the estate. At least until their numbers have increased further they are being coddled. They have a grazing pasture and stalls heaped with sand on which they can sleep.

Baseball is the oldest sport at Penn State, having been played there since 1875.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

BRIDAL LOVELINESS. What girl does not dream of looking perfection on her wedding day? The reality is certain to surpass the dream if, bride-to-be, you follow a wide-awake beauty program. Like this one:

1. At least a month before your wedding, step up your skincare routine. For the purpose, a gentle complexion brush and a firm body brush are needed. Also wanted are complexion soap, after-bath lotion, and night cream or lotion—all selected to pamper your individual skin type. Application is a daily affair.

Hair beauty comes from brushing, night and morning; from shampooing before the need is apparent; from a shampoo that caters to conditioning and sparkle. Remembering the ring ceremony, prepare your hands by keeping the cuticles oiled, by doubling up on manicures and lotion massages.

2. Three weeks before Your Day, decide on a hairstyle—one that complements both you and your wedding headdress. Then have your tresses shaped accordingly and permanently waved if necessary.

3. At the two-week mark "re-hearse" your cosmetics with your gown. This gives you the chance to replace a garish lipstick or a floury powder. Ideally, your cosmetics should produce the look of a natural radiance.

4. Have your wedding set and manicure the day beforehand. That way you avoid stiff locks and flurries. 'Tis a vision you'll be!

LOVELIER HANDS

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to keep hands with passed grace. Obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller, Box 153, The Gettysburg Times, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Mah Jong Sweeps Hong Kong As Great National Sport

By GEOFFREY HO
HONG KONG (AP) — Wherever you go in this city, you hear the clack of tiles mingled with cries of joy and despair.

Of Hong Kong's 3 1/2 million population, an estimated 2 million are playing mah jong.

The game is played with tiles similar to dominoes. By drawing and discarding, a player tries to obtain four sets of three tiles each plus a pair.

Too many housewives, mah jong has become an almost indispensable part of their lives. They play seven days a week and at least 24 rounds a day. Many break off in late afternoon to cook for their folks, then resume the game after dinner.

Thousands of office workers spend the last few minutes at work making arrangements for an evening game.

PLAY ON LUNCH BREAK
Some of them manage to squeeze in four rounds during the one-and-a-half lunch break. They call this "healthy mah jong" — meaning it produces a relaxing break between working hours.

After a hard day's work, construction workers set up tables on the rough concrete floors of unfinished buildings, in rooms without doors or windows, dimly lit by kerosene lamps.

Many coolies and peddlers play in alley ways and on sidewalks.

When shops close for the day, they are often turned immediately into battlefields for clerks.

MAH JONG MENUS
All Chinese restaurants advertise "mah jong menus" — special quick meals to squeeze in between games.

Sometimes, people rent hotel rooms or beached sampans for no other purpose than to play mah jong.

People also play on yachting excursions and in swimming costumes on beaches.

Birthday, wedding and anniversary parties are considered incomplete without games. The host usually sends invitations with a footnote reading: "Come earlier for mah jong."

Mah jong is a popular game for non-Chinese as well as Chinese. Many Portuguese, Indians and Eurasians are mad about the game. Some of them rank among Hong Kong's best players.

For housewives, sessions usually start after lunch and last until midnight. Saturday games are often extended to Sunday morning.

Veteran players take pride in recounting nonstop marathon games that lasted three days and nights.

Stakes range from a few dollars to $100 a game. A Hong Kong businessman is known to have lost more than $50,000 in one night.

Enjoying a thriving business in this congested British colony are some 100 licensed mah jong parlors. They provide tables, tea and hot towels — and also "mah-jong legs," a popular term for players. Parlor "legs" fill in when the clients are short of players.

The parlors operate from noon to midnight. Operators collect commissions from the pot for every hand. A medium-size parlor with 20 tables nets about $200 a day.

Clients can play any number of hands. A player often walks in alone, plays with three parlor "legs" and quits when he considers he has won "enough," or has lost all his money.

End Deliveries Of Parcel Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Postmaster Anthony I. Lambert says parcel post deliveries will be eliminated in the city, effective May 2.

Lambert said Tuesday the change represented economies in non-essential services "in line with President Johnson's program for greater efficiency in the federal agencies on the one hand and more benefits to the people—such as the tax reduction—on the other."

Delivery of letters and small parcels will continue as usual, he said.

NATION FAILS TO SET RECORD IN SALES GAIN

By STERLING P. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic good cheer radiated by President Johnson last week betokens no early boom; the gains he announced at two news conferences were good but definitely unspectacular.

Looking at the many business indicators now in hand for March, the first month of the massive federal tax cut, most government economists were:

RETAIL SALES DOWN

First, a bit surprised that retail sales slipped slightly even though practically every wage-earner had more take-home pay; and

Second, considerably relieved to note that the modest gains provide neither reason nor encouragement for a whirl of higher prices.

Johnson broke the news on Thursday that national output hit a record rate of $308.5 billion in the first quarter, up nearly $37 billion from a year ago.

SHORT OF EXPECTATION

Most economists had expected something bigger. The $3.5-billion rise for the January-March quarter fell short by nearly $3 billion of the gain in the preceding quarter, and was somewhat smaller than even the quarter before that.

The sales volume of the nation's retailers—who had every right to expect a banner Easter month—declined 1 per cent from February after allowing for seasonal trends, according to the preliminary Commerce Department survey.

NEW ORDER DECREASE

The volume of new orders booked by durable goods manufacturers dipped 2 per cent, the first decrease since fall.

Most other indexes rose. But the record seemed to substantiate the forecasts of the President's Council of Economic Advisors that the stimulative impact of tax reduction will be spread out over a period of two or three years.

Tawney, Harold Walker, Mary Weaver, Lisa Wentz, Thomas White, Charlene Williams and Steven Wolf.

The council's chairman, Walter W. Heller, told the Midwest Economics Association in Chicago Saturday that the first-quarter rise in Gross National Product is "directly on the projected course" laid out in his January forecast.

At that time the council predicted a total output of about $323 billion for 1964, or a gain of some 5 1/2 per cent from the first to the final quarters.

AMPLE PRODUCTION

"This hardly sounds indigestibly rapid," Heller said. Buying demand will not outstrip production, he said; there will still be much excess plant capacity; and unemployment is likely to be around 5 per cent at year-end, despite some improvement since January.

Another government economist, replying privately to a newsmen's inquiry on the impact of the tax cut, said it would be premature to judge by the March statistics, but: "If you had to say something, you'd say there has been no visible effect. It will show up a bit later on."

There is wide agreement that the broad March gains cited by the President in his news conferences last Thursday and Saturday were still reflection of the anticipation of a tax cut, rather than the actuality.

Bobbing Buoy Marks Grave Of Union Warship In River

By DUDLEY LANE
VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Around one of the bends in the ancient Yazoo River near here a bobbing red buoy pops into view to mark a major find of Civil War history.

The buoy is anchored to the stern of a Union warship which sank intact December 12, 1862, without loss of life to its 160-man crew.

Lt. Cmdr. Thomas O. Selfridge of the Union Navy was carrying out an order to seek out and destroy Confederate mines in the river as part of the attack on Vicksburg, the Gibraltar of the Confederacy.

Two of the "infernal machines" blew holes in the 175-foot-long Cairo.

"The Cairo sank in about 12 minutes after the explosion, going totally out of sight except for the top of her chimney, in six fathoms of water," Selfridge reported.

"Her whole frame was so completely shattered that I found immediately that nothing more could be effected than to move the sick and the arms."

BLEW OFF SMOKESTACKS

"I ordered the Queen of the West alongside and passed what articles I could get into her, with a portion of the crew, the remainder taking to boats," he said.

The Yankees then blew off the two tall smokestacks so the Rebels could not locate the ship and use it or its firepower.

"It was with deep regret and melancholy that I felt obliged to return down the river," Selfridge reported.

The Cairo settled gently in the river — completely intact.

Records reveal the Cairo was one of seven steamers designed for use in the Civil War inland Navy. The Cairo was a 512-ton iron-clad which carried as firepower six 42-pounders, six 32-pounders, three 8-inch guns and one 12-pound howitzer.

RECORDS CONFLICT

The story of her return to the surface began November 12, 1864.

Official maps and records conflicted. But three determined Vicksburg men—Edwin Bearss, Warren Grabau and Don Jacks—decided it was time to find the Cairo.

Bearss is official historian at the Vicksburg Military Park. Grabau was a park employee with a knowledge of the Yazoo River. Jacks had a boat.

After careful consideration of all available material, the three marked a spot on a river where the ship should be resting.

USE POCKET COMPASS

Using a pocket compass, the men went upstream past the area where they thought the craft sank and began a slow descent downstream.

They believed the iron on the Cairo would cause a deviation on the compass if they passed over the sunken ship.

Gently they drifted downstream. Suddenly the needle returned to normal. They went back upstream. Again the needle reacted violently.

After marking trees along the bank they raced to Vicksburg for a long pole. The anxious trio sped back to the marked spot and began probing. The pole struck iron.

The Cairo had been found. After about three years, interest in the raising of the craft as a tourist attraction swept into official circles.

Now "Operation Cairo" is in full swing and it is only a matter of time before the craft will be raised.

Prediction is that the Cairo may be floating down the Yazoo this spring for a permanent exhibition spot in historic Vicksburg.

LEATHER SUITS BACK ON BEACH

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — What was the oldest swim suit known to man or woman? A birthday suit, of course, marvelously custom-fitted and drip-dry.

And when modesty overwhelmed the early swimmer and the fig leaf was not ample enough for mixed company or warm enough for chilly plunges, what was the vogue at the beach?

A second skin — the skin of animals — which lacked something in tailoring but made up for it in warmth and water repellency.

Progress or regress, whichever you prefer to call this, the stylish bathing beauty of 20th Century A.D. is going back to nature both ways. She and fashion are playing the skin game.

BIRTHDAY SUITS

The original skin game, the birthday suit, actually never has been very far out of style in Sweden, or here at old swimming holes and at nudist camps.

But there was a time, at the turn of the century, when any bold female who dared go to the beach to swim risked drowning in an entanglement of bloomers, stockings, long-sleeved petticoats, ruffles, boudoir caps and shoes.

A New Yorker, Mrs. Adeline Muhlenberg, now 75, was once arrested for being without stockings. An expert swimmer, she campaigned for the liberation of swimmers from dangerously cumbersome suits. But today the wet Susan B. Anthony says she finds herself the most overdressed woman on the beach.

BIKINI SUITS

The appeal of the unpeel began with the bikini at St. Tropez, and spread like a sunburn to America where designers here contributed the plunging neckline swimsuit to the get-back-to-

The skin game.

Cloth of sorts has been good enough for whatever remained of the suit until this season. Now the second-skin—enlightenment—the second skin — the animal skin — has become the vogue.

To be sure, the animal skin has become terrible refined since the caveman days. For a while it was tanned and buffed or smoothed, and colored and cultured into a leather that was too luxurious for sun or water.

Once rough tough old leather had to be protected from the elements. Now, however, the tanning industry has learned to do what the original pelts could do all along, defy the damage of salt, Sol and humidity.

That's why animal skin . . . or leather . . . is back on the beach. It's still luxurious in buttery pastel suedes, slick patents, or supple calf swim suits, and cut to show plenty of the swimmer's skin.

That's fashion evolution for you. All the skins are in the swim.

Walnut trees in private yards are sometimes worth more than the houses they shade.

HOTEL OWNERS LIVE ON TOP OF GOLD DEPOSIT

By JACK STILLMAN
DAHLONEGA, Ga. (AP) — Although Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Fry live in a barn, they own a hotel which stands over a vein of gold.

No one, however, knows how rich the gold deposit is because it has never been mined.

Workmen discovered the vein while excavating for a basement in the middle 19th Century. But the former owner of the hotel sealed up the basement because he was ready to retire and had sold his gold holdings.

14-ROOM HOTEL

The inn — now known as the Smith House — is a 14-room hotel with a reputation for its good food rather than for its gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Fry live next door in a four-bedroom, two-story house which once was the barn.

Fry who bought the hotel in 1946, says he has no intention now of digging up the basement, which is the hotel's dining room.

An 1899 issue of The Dahlonega Nugget, a weekly newspaper, reported the gold vein to be six feet wide but of unknown depth.

The hotel's guests sleep above the headwaters of one of the richest streams in gold deposits in Lumpkin County — Tanyard Branch.

Early in the last century the stream was called Amazon Branch after a huge Indian squaw. The white men called her Amazon because she wore war paint and leaped into a shaft and thrashed white men who stole her gold.

TOURIST SPOT

Dahlonega, which once was the site of a U.S. mint, is famed for gold panning as a tourist attraction. Any resident will gladly show a visitor where to pan for gold. And most of the time flecks of the yellow metal can be found.

The sleepy north Georgia town was the scene of the first major gold strike in this country more than 130 years ago.

Dahlonega also was chosen as the seat of Lumpkin County. This infuriated the town's older sister, Auraria, which was established when Dahlonega was nothing more than a pasture.

Aurarians called it heresy, and at their first Fourth of July celebration, they raised their glasses to toast: "Our county seat — conceived in sin, brought forth in iniquity, cradled in corruption, located upon destruction."

GOP Leaders Criticize U.S.-Soviet Pact To Cut Nuclear Arms Production

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and Soviet announcements of parallel plans to reduce production of nuclear weapons material brought questions from some members of Congress today as to how Soviet good faith could be checked.

Comment at the Capitol tended to split on partisan lines.

Republicans said it appeared an informal agreement had been reached lacking provisions for inspection and verification.

DEMOCRATS APPROVE

Many Democrats approved the decision President Johnson announced Monday in an address to The Associated Press in New York. They stressed belief that it was based on conclusions of American military authorities that the United States no longer needed to add to its stockpile of nuclear weapons material.

The President's action requires no formal approval by Congress but undoubtedly will figure in floor debates later on military policy and budgets.

In disclosing the cutback, Johnson said, "I am happy to say that Chairman Khrushchev has now indicated to me that he intends to make a move in this same direction."

REPORT SUCCESSES

Shortly after Johnson's announcement, the White House disclosed that since last Oct. 10 when the nuclear test-ban treaty became effective, the United States has obtained important information from its underground testing program.

A report to Johnson by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed that the U.S. test program had been more extensive than the 20 underground explosions announced during the last eight months.

"Important information has been obtained on new weapons designs and weapons effects," they said. "The highest-yield nuclear device ever detonated in the continental United States was fired underground at the Nevada test site. Weapons effects tests have been carried out underground and others are being planned and prepared."

SECRET BRIEFING

Members of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee were briefed on the cutback in nuclear weapons material production in secret Monday. Afterward, Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., who presided at the meeting, said he considered it a "reasonable action." Atomic Energy Commission officials conducted the briefing.

Holifield said several committee members had become concerned two years ago that the Pentagon was not actually figuring its true requirements for nuclear explosives but simply was asking for all the AEC plants could produce.

Studies were ordered by the committee at that time and Monday's announcement was in line with the results of those inquiries, he said.

RAPS ACTION

However, Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., a committee member who sharply criticized the nuclear test ban treaty ratified last year, called the announcement "unilateral disarmament in action."

"It proves we do not even have to go to a negotiating table to lose our shirts," he said. "We can do it by speeches and press releases."

Several Senate members of the committee said they were told at the briefing that the reduction was in line with a downward revision of military needs and that they had no particular reason to question this.

LONDON MAYOR PAYS TO SERVE IN CITY OFFICE

By MILTON MARMOR
LONDON (AP) — Imagine a job where you have to go to 1,000 functions a year, attend a luncheon and a dinner almost every day, make three or four speeches every 24 hours — and pay $42,000 for the privilege.

That's the post of Lord Mayor of the City of London, an eagerly sought-after honor that falls every year to a wealthy businessman.

There have been 636 lord mayors since Henry Fitzallwyn took office in 1192.

The lord mayor today receives 15,000 pounds ($42,000) annually. He spends that and as much more of his own money before he surrenders office.

LORD MAYOR

He is lord mayor of what is known as the city. The city, which is slightly more than a square mile in size, was the total extent of London through the Anglo-Saxon period and the Middle Ages.

The city now is the financial center of Britain, the Commonwealth and the whole sterling area. It has only 4,500 residents but in the daytime 400,000 stream into its busy streets and buildings.

LIVERYMEN ELECT

The lord mayor is elected to his exalted office on Sept. 29 every year by the liverymen of the guilds.

The liverymen are the successors of the religious and social fraternities which were common in the 11th Century. Later they became connected with a particular trade or craft. Today there are 83 livery companies.

The lord mayor always comes from the members of the court of aldermen. The 25 aldermen all are elected for life by the voters in the 25 wards of the city of London. So, sooner or later ea. Ten years ago — The Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee opened public hearings on charges and countercharges between the Army and Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis. Five years ago — Christian Herter was sworn in as secretary of state.

One year ago — Twenty-seven Americans were freed from Cuban prisons in exchange for three Cubans held in the United States on espionage charges and one for killing a New York child.

an alderman becomes lord mayor unless he resigns or dies.

BUSY SOCIAL LIFE

To some the lord mayor is an anachronism from a feudal past. To others he means a display of pageantry and a show that warms their hearts and draws tourists.

What does the lord mayor do? Here's one day's activities: At 10:30 he received Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zukernick who gave him the key of Miami Beach, Fla. At 1:15 he had luncheon with the commander-in-chief of the home fleet and the admiral's wife. At 6 p.m. he attended an Australian reception. At 7:30 he attended the Cripplegate Ward Club's annual banquet.

That week he also went to, among other places, a dinner for the Ryder Cup golf team, opened a horticultural society's show, luncheon with the master of the furniture makers' company, and entertained the West Indian and English cricket teams at cocktail.

CHIEF MAGISTRATE

He also presides over city of London governmental meetings, is chief magistrate of the city, is admiral of the port of London.

Because of his ancient and honorable post the lord mayor of the city of London is someone on whom visiting heads of state almost invariably make colorful visits, arranged by the British government.

The lord mayor also receives the queen and Prince Philip on varied occasions.

He annually puts on a big show in the streets of London when he does in state to the law courts and is presented to the judges of the Queen's Bench. The children love this procession as it is gaily bedecked with floats and pomp.

This procession can be traced back to the 14th Century.

Greatest of all the banquets attended by the lord mayor is the one he and his two sheriffs give every November. It is usually attended by 800 guests in white tie and evening dress. They include the prime minister, who traditionally makes a foreign policy speech, the cabinet, the archbishop of Canterbury, the lord chief justice, ambassadors, officials of banking and commercial interests and the masters of the 12 greatest livery companies.

Last year's dinner was given by the incoming lord mayor, Alderman Clement James Harman, a property magnate.

The lord mayor doesn't dress like ordinary mortals. He has five different costumes during his crowded year of office.

He puts on his scarlet gown on attaining office. For the lord mayor's show with it goes a scarlet hood or cap of dignity and a magnificent chain of office.

For court affairs he wears his violet gown. He has the chain of office draped around his shoulders.

The black and gold robe is worn at the lord mayor's banquet. This robe of black figured silk brocade trimmed with gold lace and frogging is also called the "Old Bailey" dress. With it go gaiters.

WEARS GOWN

At receptions he wears his reception gown of crimson velvet with an ermine cape ornamented with three rows of black dots. This robe has gold cordons and tassels with a white satin rosette on each shoulder. (The chain of office is slipped through these.) The gown is lined with white front. It is edged with white satin.

Then comes the coronation robe, a resplendent one of rich crimson and velvet lined with white corded silk. It has four bars of gold and ermine on each front. It is edged with gold lace. There are two satin rosettes on the shoulders. The garment is garnished with a black plush tricorn hat trimmed with three curled black ostrich feathers and a burnished steel ornament. Buckled shoes, of course, are worn with this gown.

But not every lord mayor has an opportunity to wear this gown in public. It appears only on royal coronations.

One popular misconception about the lord mayor is that the queen must ask his permission to enter the city of London.

The sovereign does not ask permission.

Boy, 16, Steals Plane And Flies

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy C. Willis, 16, loves airplanes. That was the only apparent reason for his actions, officers said.

Shortly after midnight Tuesday, Willis took a plane from a hangar, got it started and — although he had never been at the controls of a plane—took off. Authorities said he flew for some three hours, almost crashing twice and finally landed after clipping several trees and badly damaging the plane. He escaped uninjured.

RAIN HAMPER WORK ON FARM

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service says rain and wet ground hampered planting on most farms last week.

Spring seeding of alfalfa and clover is well advanced, however, and some cobbler potatoes have been planted, the service said in its weekly report.

The report continued: "Winter grains generally are in fair to good condition, although some barley had to be replanted in the southwest area because of poor germination during last fall's drought or from suffocation from water and ice."

"Grains and grasses were making rapid growth."

FRUIT WINTERED WELL

"Tobacco beds in the Lancaster County area were being steamed for weed and plant disease control."

"Fruit trees have come through the winter in good condition, and apple buds are swelling rapidly. Some cherries are in bloom and a few peaches are in the pink stage. Pruning work has been completed."

"The maple syrup harvest, just ended, was especially good in the northeast area and fair to good in Somerset County."

"Plowing for oats and corn progressed in southern and central counties, and some oats and vegetables were planted, in addition to potatoes."

FBI Director Says Reds Influence Negro Movement

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has told a congressional subcommittee that "Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement."

The transcript of his Jan. 29 testimony, made public Tuesday, does not show whether he cited any specific examples.

The Communist party, he said in his appearance before a House Appropriations subcommittee, tries to expand its influence among Negroes and particularly has "sought ways and means to exploit the Negro civil rights movement."

The Communists, Hoover said, try to use "what are often legitimate Negro complaints and grievances for the advancement of Communist objectives."

USE NON-RED MEN
The number of Negroes who may be attracted to Communist party membership, "is not the important thing" Hoover said. He cited an old Communist principle that "communism must be built with non-Communist hands."

"We do know," he added, "that Communist influence does exist in the Negro movement and it is this influence which is vitally important. It can be the means through which large masses are caused to lose perspective on the issues involved and, without realizing it, succumb to the party's propaganda lures."

OFF THE RECORD
At this point in the testimony Hoover asked to speak off the record, so the hearing transcript does not show whether he was asked for, or gave, any specific instances of Communist influence among Negroes.

Hoover, reporting on the FBI's activities, also described efforts by Communists to recruit American students to their views.

The Communists, he said, have shown "considerable patience" in these efforts and sometimes finance students' college education provided they would seek government employment after graduation and cooperate with Soviet intelligence.

JUDGE GIVES ULTIMATUM TO JUVENILES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia County Judge J. Sydney Hoffman issued a four-point ultimatum to juvenile gang members Tuesday night, while offering them a chance to be "born again" if they behave.

The judge spoke to some 300 persons, including 100 known gang members, as 16 deputy sheriffs and 100 policemen stood on duty to prevent trouble.

In the past five days in the city, there have been two killings, 14 beatings, a knifing and other incidents involving juveniles.

NOT NEGOTIATING

Tuesday police charged seven boys, four of them 15 years old, with the fatal beating of Charles Henry, an 84-year-old widower.

Judge Hoffman called the youths and parents together Tuesday night and told them it was not a "summit conference" nor had they been called in to "negotiate."

"We are extending you an ultimatum," he said.

He disclosed this plan: "If three or more boys on probation are found together, unless they are going to something sanctioned by the court or to a community activity, they will be considered in violation of probation."

NO DISCRIMINATION
"In the event of assaultive conduct—shooting or stabbing—everybody will be treated the same, whether he or she is guilty of the assault."

"Probation officers will ride at frequent intervals with police."

"In the event of a gang disturbance, instead of going before an examiner at the youth study center, we will see that the culprits are brought before a judge in 12 hours."

The judge emphasized the plan will be put into operation without discrimination.

"This is not a Negro problem," he said. "We are going to hit gangs of whites and Negroes and Jews and Catholics and Protestants."

Earlier, the judge set May 12 as the date for a further hearing for the seven boys charged with homicide in the death of Henry last weekend.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Mrs. E. Regis Clair of Munhall, Allegheny County, is the winner in the senior division of the State Sewing Contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs. Other winners named Tuesday are Mrs. Robert Kaster, Downingtown, Chester County, junior division, and

Bee Blamed For Auto Accident

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An automobile accident in which six persons were injured was blamed on a bee.

Traffic Investigator J. N. Anderson said a driver had stopped on Atlanta's expressway when a bee flew into the vehicle. He said another car had swerved to miss the first car and crashed head on into a third automobile.

Anderson said the first driver said she had stopped because she didn't want to cause an accident.

GSA Moves To Preserve Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you notice federal employees inching their desks closer, the motive may be economy—not togetherness.

Bernard L. Boutin, head of the General Services Administration, the government's housekeeping agency, estimated Tuesday that "each square foot reduction GSA is able to accomplish in the average per-employee - square - foot - of - space-occupied produces an annual savings to the government in rental, maintenance, and operation cost approximating $1.5 million."

Boutin told the Senate-House Economic Committee that GSA succeeded last year in reducing the average from 150.3 to 146.8 square feet, saving $5 million.

2 JUVENILES' MURDER CASE TO GRAND JURY

HARRISBURG (AP)—A June grand jury will decide whether two youths, aged 14 and 15, should stand trial on murder charges stemming from the beating death of a Harrisburg man.

The youths—Jerry Cofield, 15, and Ronald Dunbar, 14—pleaded innocent to the charges Tuesday at a hearing before Alderman William H. Sellers. Sellers ordered that they be held without bond in Dauphin County prison for grand jury action.

Judge Walter R. Sohn on April 13 ordered that the youths be tried as adults on charges that they beat Paul S. Gundrum, 66, and left him unconscious on a sidewalk last March 3. He died in a hospital 10 days after the attack, without gaining consciousness.

AROUSES CONTROVERSY
The case and the publicity surrounding it aroused a controversy here in the wake of Judge Sohn's statements at the earlier hearing. At that time, he served notice of a sterner attitude toward juveniles accused of serious crimes.

"I'm serving notice," the judge said, "that any juvenile 14 or over who comes before me accused of crimes usually attributed to adults will be turned over to the district attorney for prosecution as an adult."

Pennsylvania law protects youths under 18-year-old against use of their names by news media without specific permission of the court. Judge Sohn gave that permission in the Gundrum case.

LAWYER CRITICAL
Attorney Arthur Goldberg, counsel for Cofield and Dunbar, was critical of recent newspaper stories following today's hearing.

RAIL DISPUTE DEADLINE IS 72 HRS. AWAY

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Differences were negotiators bargaining today as negotiators bargained toe-to-toe with less than 72 hours remaining before the delayed deadline for a nationwide railroad strike.

Representatives of five unions and nearly 200 railroads were closely examining each other's proposals "decimally point by decimal point," said White House press secretary George Reedy.

President Johnson voiced hope again Tuesday that the two sides in the five-year-old work-rules dispute would come up with a voluntary settlement before Saturday's scheduled 12:01 a.m. strike deadline.

JOHNSON HOPEFUL
Johnson was reported so hopeful of an agreement by that time that he has not yet asked for any extension of the 15-day strike postponement he won April 10.

Talks with federal mediators were going virtually around the clock.

Sources close to both sides said the talks were in a highly crucial stage and that the outcome was still uncertain.

Reedy said the two sides were engaged in "very thorough, very exhaustive, discussions" based on an exchange of working papers on their respective proposals.

INVOLVES WORK RULES
The dispute involves a complicated system of work rules governing wages, job classifications and working conditions.

"There is a narrowing of differences, there is a clarification of language," Reedy said. Johnson, speaking to a group of editors and broadcasters visiting the White House Tuesday, said, "We think that collective bargaining is hard at work."

Johnson continued to refrain from saying what action he might take if the talks failed. He said he was proceeding on a presumption that the talks would result in a voluntary solution before the strike deadline.

ly by the newspapers, and this fact is going to make it extremely difficult to impanel a jury which has not in some way been influenced by the pretrial reporting which has been unfavorable."

Solon Promises To Continue Fight To Repeal Excise Tax

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
The Associated Press

The excise tax, protested by many women as discriminatory because it levies a tariff on handbags without taxing men's pants pockets, will be around for a while longer.

The 20 per cent tax on handbags, jewelry, cosmetics and furs at the retail level was levied when the World War II began and was reduced to 10 per cent a few years ago. Recently a proposal to repeal it altogether was defeated in Congress by a narrow vote. But there is still tomorrow.

TO PRESSURE CONGRESS
Disappointed, but undaunted, Kremenetz contends that his members will put all the pressure they can on Congress to bring to fruition its promises.

"Removing the tax is a moral obligation," he says. "It was written into the old law that it would be removed as soon as possible."

However, the definition of "as soon as possible" got a going over during tax cut debates by the Senate Finance Committee sessions. Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N. M., argued later on the Senate floor that the committee concluded that if they were to give in a little on the excise tax they would open the floodgates to an eventual loss of $16 billion in taxes from other industries seeking the same kind of relief.

HANDBAG TAX
Sens. Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits, both of New York, as well as Sens. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., and Roman Hruska, R-Nebr., had cosponsored a proposal to eliminate the 10 per cent tax on handbags under $50.

"Surely an old lady's pocketbook is something that we do not wish to tax," Senator Anderson related the thinking of the finance committee on the bill. "We took off the tax, and $500 million later we began to slow up a little."

So the tax went back on.

WOMEN BEST WEAPON
Within two days, however, the National Committee for Repeal of Excise Taxes on Handbags and Toilettries was mailing letters to women urging them to write to the President, their senators and to Hon. Wilbur Mills to protest, as the letter states, "tax on handbags, toilet preparations and related articles regarded by women as necessities of life."

The committee members believe the women are their most potent weapon. They remember that it was largely because of the clamor of the General Federation of Women's Clubs members that Congress in 1954 whittled the excise tax down from the original 20 to 10 per cent.

The fur industry and the cosmetics industry representatives all expressed disappointment at the current failure but hope that things will be better tomorrow. None of them underestimates the power of a taxed-upon woman.

Finland has issued a new 35-markka stamp honoring the centenary of the Finnish Society of Arts. The design shows the sculptured head of an elk made of soapstone approximately 2000 B.C. Another 35-markka stamp soon will be issued by Finland to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Emil Nestor Setälä, professor and statesman.

The illustration on the stamp is entitled "Jerked Down." The term applies to a hazard of the cowboy roundup. A cowboy has thrown his lariat over a cow, but a second cow has become entangled in the rope, causing the rider to be "jerked down." As the cowboy struggles to retain his seat in the saddle, a fellow cowboy rides to his aid. This oil painting now hangs in the Thomas Gilcrease Institute of American History and Art, Tulsa, Okla.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH

The John F. Kennedy memorial stamp will be issued on May 29, the 47th anniversary of his birthday, announced Postmaster General John A. Gronouski. The date of issuance was chosen by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Shortly after President Kennedy's death, President Johnson requested the postmaster general to issue such a stamp and consult with Mrs. Kennedy as to the date and the design.

The new stamp will be of 5-cent denomination and of commemorative size. As soon as Mrs. Kennedy approves the design, it will be released to the press.

This year's 5-cent commemorative stamp in the "fine art" series features a Charles M. Russell painting of cowboys in action at roundup time. It was issued March 19 at Great Falls, Mont., home of the celebrated artist and coincided with the 100th anniversary of Russell's birth. The stamp colors are brown, blue, yellow and white.

The illustration on the stamp is entitled "Jerked Down." The term applies to a hazard of the cowboy roundup. A cowboy has thrown his lariat over a cow, but a second cow has become entangled in the rope, causing the rider to be "jerked down." As the cowboy struggles to retain his seat in the saddle, a fellow cowboy rides to his aid. This oil painting now hangs in the Thomas Gilcrease Institute of American History and Art, Tulsa, Okla.

WILL AWARD TWO TRIPS TO WORLD'S FAIR

The V. C. Hughes Company, Gettysburg, owned by V. C. Ondek and S. M. Ondek will award a free trip to the New York World's Fair to a lucky couple. A drawing will be held at the Hilco Home office, one mile northeast of Biglerville, on June 30. The winning couple must be in the process of building a Hilco home. V. C. Ondek, president of the company, announced the trip will not only include a weekend at one of New York's finest hotels and free tickets to the World's Fair and Radio City Music Hall but will provide free bus transportation to and from New York City or the equivalent in cash towards motor expenses.

Only those purchasing homes between March 1, 1964, and June 30, 1964, will be eligible. The occasion is to celebrate V. C. Hughes Ondek's 10 years of association as a Hilco Homes franchisee. She was appointed in April, 1954, and was the first pre-cut homes sales agent in this area. One week later the first home was sold. Sales increased as the flexibility of the plans and the integrity of the company became known.

The franchised territory originally included Gettysburg, Biglerville, Fairfield, Littlestown, Gardners, East Berlin and Hanover but was increased to include York, Wrightsville, Carlisle, Westminster, Hagerstown and Chambersburg.

Mrs. Ondek says Hilco Home includes all styles, designs and many custom models. They range in price from low cost cottages to remodeling ranch homes, multiple use split levels and the new bi-levels.

Mrs. Ondek has received numerous awards for salesmanship and "Most Beautiful Homes Concepts." In commemorating her 10th anniversary with the company, Jerome Drucker, chairman of the board, said in a letter: "your extensive knowledge of home building, combined with your integrity and dedication to satisfy every customer conforms with our established policy which has been responsible for consistent growth and progress."

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Ondek, partners of the V. C. Hughes Co., have planned several events and prizes during the year. A gift of storm windows and screens and tub enclosure will be awarded to every purchaser of a de luxe Hilco Home during the contest period.

An exhibit will be held May 2 and 3. To celebrate apple blossom weekend they will have an exhibit miniature models of Hilco Homes. The exhibit is free and will be held at the office in Gettysburg, one mile north of Biglerville. Signs will be posted to direct those wishing to see the display. All Hilco Home owners are especially invited and will receive a gift.

INVITE PUBLIC

(Continued From Page 1) ald Miller, of Municipal Management, Philadelphia, will be another speaker Friday morning on "Gettysburg's Water Problem."

AIMS EXPLAINED

The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin is a water conservation agency of four states, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, created when the five governments voluntarily and under the authority of the U.S. Constitution signed a compact to try to stop pollution of the waters of the Potomac Basin, to collect information on water and related resources of the basin, and to enlist public opinion on the side of water conservation. Ned Bright, of the commission, said today.

The commission was established in 1940 and comprises 18 commissioners. Each state and the District of Columbia appoints three. An additional three are appointed by the United States Government.

FACTS AND PERSUASION

An agency for collective action, the commission permits a basin-wide approach to pollution and other water problems which by their very nature overlap state and municipal boundaries, Bright said. "What happens to a basin river or stream at any one point, for example the discharge of a pollutant, is bound to affect to some degree the water downstream from that point. What happens may even affect the water upstream from the point as in the case of a dam or some other obstruction to the flow. No one of the signatories of the Potomac River Compact can completely protect its water interests by the exercise of its own governmental power since conditions affecting its water may very well lie outside its territorial boundaries.

"What the individual signatories are powerless to do alone, they can accomplish together by means of the Interstate Commission in which they equally vest power to act within their respective territorial boundaries for the welfare of all. Experience has shown that the commission uses fact-finding and persuasion as its main tools, allowing the conscience of officials and of the citizenry to determine proper action."

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Watching President Johnson and the Republicans' would-be presidents is like watching a bedside lamp trying to compete for attention with an all-night neon sign.

He has been getting bouncier and livelier, talking more and doing more, ever since he moved into the White House, perhaps as his confidence increased. But something which happened recently really seemed to charge his batteries.

While public opinion polls put him away in front of any Republican, last Wednesday visiting newspaper editors decided it was not a question of whether he would win in this election year but only by how much.

HIS ADVANTAGE

He has been outdoing himself ever since: A news conference the next day, a meeting with the editors Friday, a news conference Saturday, handshaking Sunday, a big foreign policy speech Monday, another news conference Tuesday.

Most of the time on these occasions he made announcements that got headlines.

The Republicans are whirling around and popping off practically every day.

They criticize him or they offer solutions for the ills here and elsewhere, all the time talking politics, and playing it. His advantage is that he can play politics without mentioning it.

VETERANS AT POLITICS

While they sound like a voice in the hills, he gets a big play just by saying something or doing something as President, if it only shaking hands with tourists or walking in the White House rose garden.

This lucky political position of a president in an election year has been true of every president but none ever realized it better than Johnson or sought to make more use of it.

He has been a politician 24 hours daily since he came to Congress in 1937 but never more so than when he repeats he just wants to be president of all the people and indicates he wouldnt think of talking politics until the campaign begins.

OUTDOES JFK

President John F. Kennedy stayed busy trying to keep the public reminded of him. But in this Johnson is outdoing Kennedy who was a master at it.

He can get more attention just dancing, and he loves to dance, than a Republican presidential hopeful like Harold Stassen if he shouted through a bullhorn all day.

Johnson is probably the greatest White House dancer since Theodore Roosevelt, if Roosevelt danced. If not Roosevelt, then it would have to be someone back in the 19th century.

Although, come to think of it, if Calvin Coolidge danced that would have been an exciting spectacle.

CHECK FRONT PAGE

A good example of how Johnson keeps himself in the news is to check the front pages of newspapers for the past two weeks. There was hardly a day when he didn't do or say something to put him there.

He got a lot of mileage out of the threatened rail strike alone: calling labor and management together, getting the strike pushed off, getting agreement on another 15 days of negotiation, making hopeful statements about the outcome.

Besides that, and going backward for the past two weeks day by day, here is part of what Johnson did:

AT FAIR TODAY

Warned Cuba not to shoot down American planes flying over to make a check; announced cutback in material for nuclear weapons; shook hands with tourists after church; raised the possibility of ending the draft within 10 years and tossed out a barrel of figures on the economy; talked about the job of the presidency; another report on the economy and a warning to both sides in the civil rights dispute to use moderation; had his picture taken with Jordans visiting King Hussein; threw the opening pitch of the baseball season and ordered a freeze on government employees' grades and salaries; welcomed Soviet Premier Khrushchev as a peace apostle.

In case anyone thinks he may slow down after all this: Today he arranged to go to New York and make a speech opening the World's Fair.

The rarified air at the top of three-mile-high Mt. Kilimanjaro can produce nausea and headaches, even among seasoned climbers.

TOP BILLING FOR WORLD'S FAIR ON TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If network television's judgment is correct, this is national F-for Fair—Day.

For weeks, with mounting excitement, the networks' news departments have been paying close attention to the billion-dollar installation rising on Flushing Meadows for a two-year run.

That may be because the New York World's Fair is the last word in fairs. It may also be because it is situated practically on the front lawn of all the networks' headquarters.

IT'S A NATURAL

It may be that because television is a young man's game, few of the news staffs were around during the old fair 25 years ago.

It is most likely, however, that television is excited because the fair is a natural for it. Like political conventions, Senate subcommittee hearings and baseball games, it is contained in a limited space and most events are set up in advance so that cameras can be on the scene.

For the last few days, however, the network news departments have been acting like nervous hostesses planning lavish parties but fearful at the last minute that nobody will find the house.

STILL ENTERTAINMENT

The fears are the result of plans for massive integration demonstrations that could destroy the whole gala atmosphere, keep the crowds away and change the whole plan for coverage.

None is as dismayed, perhaps, as executives of a big company which has spent well over a million dollars for tonight's 90-minute NBC special on the official opening designed to carry the nation's viewers on a tour of the attractions.

It has been in the works for months. Now suddenly, the fair opening has become a news story instead of an opportunity for light entertainment.

"We're still thinking of it as an entertainment show," said an NBC spokesman Tuesday night. But he sounded nervous. Recommended tonight: "Opening Night at the World's Fair," NBC, 7:30-9 p.m. EST, Henry Fonda is host, with Carol Channing, Lorne Greene, Fred MacMurray, Marian Anderson and Cantinflas.

COASTAL SITES GROW SCARCE

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Available deep water sites for industry in the area from Virginia to Maine are disappearing rapidly, an industrial consultant told the North Atlantic Ports Association Tuesday.

"The dwindling shoreline" of the heavily populated North Atlantic region slowly is becoming recognized as a public problem, said Dr. Dorothy A. Muncy of Arlington, Va., the consultant.

Decisions to guide port and shoreline development are needed now, or employment and recreation needs of the future will be lost by default, she said.

Laurence J. Stabler Jr., assistant vice president of Philadelphia Industrial Development Corp., who said he found little familiarity with port requirements among urban planners, supported Dr. Muncy's statement.

Jail Negroes For Traffic Snarling

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Nine Negroes were jailed Tuesday night after a traffic-snarling disturbance at the height of a Texas San Jacinto Day celebration.

Deputy Sheriff Jack H. Bonner said the persons denied they had deliberately stalled traffic at the Lynchburg ferry in sympathy with a stall-in proposed for today's opening of the New York World's Fair.

Bonner said the lead car of a 35-vehicle line refused to board the W. H. Hobby ferryboat. When officers arrived, he said, "it was a drunken mess." About 15 persons were arrested but only nine were charged. Two were released after paying fines.

Gene Conley Is Unemployed Now

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Conley, the longtime multiple job major leaguer, is unemployed.

The Boston Red Sox have waived for $1 the 6-foot-8 giant with an ailing pitching arm and ment.

Stabler described the functions of his agency in Philadelphia. The nonprofit corporation is a joint venture of the city and the greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, designed to carry out the city's economic plan.

an estimated $28,000 price tag. "Conley no longer figures in our pitching plans," Manager Johnny Pesky said Tuesday night in making the announcement. "We are going with the younger pitchers. Conley said his arm was okay but we knew it wasn't."

"I still think I can do some club a lot of good," Conley said from his Foxboro, Mass., home in obvious disappointment. "I am not ready to quit yet."

KEY PICTURE IS LABELED INCONCLUSIVE

MONTREAL (AP)—A photograph enlarged 48 times was presented Tuesday at a royal commission inquiry into a case involving the deaths of three Pennsylvania hunters, but the photograph was described as inconclusive.

The photograph of Thomas Patterson, a guide, was found in the camera of Frederick Claar, one of the hunters, but did not play a major role in the trial of Wilbert Coffin.

Coffin was hanged in 1956 for the murder of one of the hunters. The other victims were Eugene Lindsay and his son, Richard. All were from Hollidaysburg, Pa.

The inquiry was spurred by the publication of Jacques Hebert's book, "I Accuse Coffin's Assassins," which charged that Coffin was railroaded to the gallows.

The photograph in question was sent to an Eastman Kodak Laboratory in Rochester, N.Y., enlarged 48 times, and sent back with a letter from Harris B. Tuttle, head of the laboratory, saying positive identification of the object in the photograph was impossible.

"It could be a gun or the end of a belt holding up the person's trousers," the letter said.

"However, the person is wearing suspenders and this brings us back again to thinking it is a gun. However, on studying it carefully my guess would be it is a man's belt and that he was just pulling the belt through the buckle and tightening it up."

Pennsy Lists Early Profits

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced a profit for the January-March period this year for the first time since 1937, according to a PRR spokesman.

The railroad reported Tuesday net income of $3,168,357 for the first quarter of 1964, equal to 23 cents per share of common stock, compared with a deficit of $7,945,100 for the corresponding period in 1963.

Consolidated earnings for the quarter totaled $9,569,000, an improvement of approximately $15.4 million over the same 1963 quarter in which a deficit of $5,847,000 was reported.

an estimated $28,000 price tag. "Conley no longer figures in our pitching plans," Manager Johnny Pesky said Tuesday night in making the announcement. "We are going with the younger pitchers. Conley said his arm was okay but we knew it wasn't."

"I still think I can do some club a lot of good," Conley said from his Foxboro, Mass., home in obvious disappointment. "I am not ready to quit yet."

FELTONVILLE, Pa. (AP) —

Sun Oil Co. reports earnings for the first quarter of 1964 rose 31 per cent over the same period last year. Stockholders were advised at the same time, however, that profits were not keeping up with investment.

J. Howard Pew, chairman, said net income for the first three months of this year totaled $16,694,000, equal to $1.10, compared to $12,768,000, or 88 cents per share, for the January March period in 1963.
